Lake Okutama is a precious water resource for Tokyoites.

The backwoods of the Tama area have a rich ecosystem. You might even see a bear!

There is still farmland close to downtown Tokyo.

Half of the companies in Japan have their head offices in Tokyo.

The Ogasawara Islands are a World Heritage site.

Area: 2,191 km²
Population: 13.8 million inhabitants
GDP: 94.9 trillion yen (19.4% of national GDP)
Number of enterprises: 654 thousand
Number of foreign tourists: 13.1 million

Mt. Takao has won three Michelin stars.

OGASAWARA ISLANDS

Environmental Information

- Greenery*: 50.5% (2013)
- Final disposal amount of waste: 0.98 million tonnes (2015)
- Energy-related CO₂ emissions: 58.3 million CO₂ tonnes (2016)
- Concentration of PM₂·⁵: 12.8 µg/m³ (2017)

*1 Including water area *2 Annual mean, average of 47 ambient air monitoring stations